Penny Wise and Paint Foolish

is he who buys paint because it is cheap. Quality should be the first consideration. The spread and wear determine the value of a paint. The paint tkat covers twice as much surface as another paint is worth twice as much, and if is wears twice as long it is worth four times as much plus the cost of the second painting. Never look for cheap paint. Look for quality. You get it in The Sherwin-Williams Paint. Its use is economy.

DIXON'S OLD LANDMARKS ARE FAST DISAPPEARING

MODERN STRUCTURE WILL OCCUPY SITE OF STONE BUILDING ON RIVER STREET.

ERECTED OVER SIXTY YEARS AGO

Occupied At One Time By Dixon's Foremost Tailors—First Home of Evening Telegraph.

Dixon's old landmarks are disappearing one by one and the many old objects of interest in and around the city are steadily decreasing in number. It is with sorrow that the old timers see the old places divested of their bearings but they must give way to the advancement of modern structures and up to date buildings.

Stone Building Gone.

The latest building of age to be effaced is the old stone building on River street, between Hennepin and Galena avenues. This old structure has stood on the spot for sixty years and was the very center of the business life of our city. Today it is entirely cleared and a heap of debris that is rapidly diminishing is all that is left to mark the site. It has been removed to make way for a modern coal office and yards proposed by Ed H. Hughes, and though one cannot but regret seeing its departure yet there is reason to feel consoled in the thought of its successor. Originally the building was occupied by Hine & Carpenter, at one time Dixon's foremost tailors. Since that time it is uncertain just what the building was used for but it has stood and was in its day the busiest in the town. Of recent years it was used as a dwelling by a colored family, but for the past three years it has not even been used for that.

When the old place was in its prime Dixon's main street was what we call River street. On the corner of Hennepin avenue and River street was located one of the finest stores of the city's early history. In the old building formerly used as a livery and feed shed by D. McKenney was located the store owned by J. B. Brooks and J. T. Little. On the second floor of the latter named building originated the Dixon Telegraph and it was here that the first copy of the paper was struck off.

The old brick building east of Galena avenue was then occupied by a furniture, dry goods and variety store.

The feed shed which now stands near the site of the stone building which has been removed will be overhauled and made into an up to date barn with all improvements and will be occupied by Mr. Hughes in connection with his coal office.

Moss Buys a Winton.

B. Frank Downing and Dr. Z. W. Moss went to Chicago this morning to bring home the automobile the doctor has purchased. It is the Winton touring car and is a good one. The gentlemen will reach Dixon some time tomorrow with the car.

Infant Dies.

The three months' old child of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Flick of Grand Detour died Saturday and was buried this afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bridges of this city attended the funeral.

Hinkey Resigns.

John Hinckey Saturday resigned his position at the Downing Bros.' store and left this morning for New York City to accept a good position.

Victim of Appendicitis.

Dr. John H. Miller is very ill with appendicitis. He was taken sick on Saturday morning. His wife and children were visiting relatives at Princeton and were called home, arriving Sunday evening.

Board Looks Over Ground.

The board of local improvement this forenoon drove over the route of the proposed north side sewer to look over the ground.

Co. G. Meets Tonight.

Company G will hold a regular meeting tonight.

ODESSA OFFICIALS RESIGN

Berling Aug. 27—Special—Dispatches received here from Odessa state that Governor General Kaulbars and all the principal civil and military officials at Odessa have resigned. Their action was entirely unexpected.

GOVERNOR GENERAL KILLED

Warsaw, Aug. 27—Special—Gen. Voniarski, acting military governor general of Warsaw, was shot and killed at 2 o'clock this afternoon while driving in a cab. The assassin escaped.

This morning an unknown man warned the cabmen not to drive any of the generals.

CHURCHMAN GOES WRONG

Chicago, Aug. 27—Special—Dr. Robert D. Sheppard, former treasurer of Northwestern University and of the Garrett Biblical Institute, admitted today that he had been guilty of "irregularities," but not of "criminalities" in the management of the latter's accounts.

A tremendous sensation has been caused by the disclosures of the noted educator's financial delinquencies, which, it is said, forced his resignation from both positions.

The amount involved is declared by the university authorities at Evanston to be $200,000.

Is Prominent Churchman.

For many years Dr. Sheppard has been one of the most prominent churchmen in this part of the country, as well as prominent in educational fields. He is a minister of the gospel, has been for some twenty-years a member of the Rock River conference and is well known in this city.

BELOVED WOMAN PASSES AWAY

MRS. SAMUEL BRIMBLECOME OF WOOSUNG DIED AT HOSPITAL TODAY.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Deceased Was Consistent Member of Methodist Church and Supt. of Sunday School.

Mrs. Ella McElfresh Brimblecome, wife of Samuel Brimblecome of Woosung, died this morning at 6 o'clock at the Dixon hospital.

Ella May McElfresh was born August 7, 1874, at Mechanicsburg, Ill., and was married October 17, 1897, at Springfield, Ill., to Samuel Brimblecome. Mr. and Mrs. Brimblecome moved to Woosung immediately after their marriage and have resided there since. She is survived by her mother, two brothers, William and Dr. C. D. H. McElfresh, and one sister, Mrs. Anna Price, of Cuba, Ill.

Deceased was a devout member of the Methodist church and was for some time superintendent of the Sunday school at Woosung. She was a woman who was loved and respected by all and her loss will be keenly felt in all circles.

The funeral services will be held at the late home at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and the funeral sermon will be preached at the Woosung church. Rev. L. U. Schmidt will officiate. Interment will be made at Oakwood.

Broncho Paces In 2:00.

Without a wind shield of pacemaker The Broncho, queen of pacers, paced a mile in 2:00 3-4 at Galesburg Saturday before an immense crowd of enthusiastic spectators. The fact that the little mare made the record without any device in front of her is remarkable in the extreme and the horsemen are beginning to predict greater things for here before the close of the season. That she is a wonder there can be no doubt.

Mendota Boys Camp Here.

Clifford Banks, John Kohl and John Mahan arrived from Mendota this morning and will spend a few days camping up the river.

MOTHER TO COME FOR SON'S BODY

FATHER OF LATE RAY GOGERTY WRITES INTERESTING LETTER TO LADY HERE.

WILL HAVE BODY TAKEN HOME

Parents Receive Newspaper Clippings and Appreciate Kindness—He Was a Good Son.

Mrs. A. Depuy of this city is in receipt of a letter from the father of the late Ray Gogerty, who was recently killed by a train on the Northwestern tracks near the Peoria avenue bridge and whose body now lies buried in potter's field. Soon after the remains of the boy were laid away Mrs. Depuy cut clippings regarding the death and burial of the young man and sent them to the parents of the boy in the California home.

Today Mrs. Depuy received the following letter from the father:

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 18, '06.

Mrs. A. Depuy,
Dixon, Illinois.

Madam:

I cannot, with words, tell you how much we appreciate the kindness shown us by sending the paper clippings; though, by the reading of them they bring great grief to our hearts.

The loss of our dear son so far away from home is almost too much for us to bear. He was the son for whom very many prayers have been offered.

I, myself, have been wonderfully blesed by the Lord, of late, and I have been bearing my dear son up at the throne of grace three or four times per day, claiming him for God; and my faith is founded upon the precious promises, and heaven and earth shall pass away before any of the precious Word shall fail.

How we loved our dear son, how much we loved our dear son, God only knows—and also true parents.

I trust, the Lord willing, Mrs. Gogerty will be in Dixon shortly and have the remains moved from the present place into a place more satisfactory. I trust Mrs. Gogerty will meet you when she gets to Dixon.

My dear son was not in the habit of traveling like that; in fact, this seven months is about all he has ever been away from home, and we believe that, if Mr. Walmsley had not found him in Denver this would never have happened. He found him on the 28th of July.

I see that Mr. Walmsley gives my dear son the blame for traveling like that; I don't believe but what he was just as much to blame for his mother says he had traveled like that before.

Remaining,

Yours very faithfully,
Mr. G. GOGERTY.

FREE BAND CONCERT SATURDAY EVENING

The prize money of $50 which was won by the Dixon Marine band at the recent Knights of the Globe celebration in Sterling and which the band agreed to turn over to the local lodge, has been divided between the lodge and the band, the musicians getting $25. It has been decided by Will H. Smith, director of the boys, that a free concert will be given here on next Saturday evening.

BOARD OF REVIEW GETS OVER $55,000 TODAY

The Lee county board of review had another good day today. A trifle over $55,000 was added to the list of taxable property. This was all individual sums, one of them being for $13,000 and another for $7,000. The good work will go on and there are several good things in sight.

Special Assessment Notice.

Special warrant ordinance Number 87, Series 1906.

Public notice is hereby given that the county court of Lee county, Illinois, has rendered judgment for a special assessment upon the property benefitted by the construction of the vitrified tile pipe sewer with manholes, catch basins, house connections, etc., in the City of Dixon, on College avenue, First street, Second street, Third street, Fourth street, Sixth street, Seventh street and Van Buren avenue, as provided for in City of Dixon Local Improvement Ordinance Number 87, Series 1905. As will more fully appear from a certified copy of the said judgment now on file in my office: that the warrant for the collection of such assessment is in the hands of the undersigned.

All persons interested are hereby notified to call and pay the amount assessed at the collector's office in the City Council rooms of the City of Dixon, within thirty days from the date hereof.

Dated at Dixon, Illinois, this 25th day of August, A. D. 1906.

(Signed)
HENRY U. BARDWELL,
5t Collector.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

IMP OF INDIGESTION

How to Get the Better of This Cause of Misery.

A scientific writer upon stomach troubles says: "If you have ever suffered from indigestion,—and who has not?—your imagination has probably pictured a ferocious little imp dancing in the pit of your stomach causing that organ to neglect all of its duties, with a result that is not only painful, but fills you with misery from day to day." This writer certainly had suffered with indigestion, for there is no more disagreeable, nerve-racking and sick-all-over disease than indigestion.

A great many people who have been treated for years for diseases of the heart, liver or kidneys, when they used Miona stomach tablets found that not only did Miona cure the stomach disorder, but it made them well all over and the other troubles were also cured.

If you suffer with nervousness sleeplessness, indigestion, sick or nervous headache, pains in the back or sides, get a 50c box of Mi-o-na from Rowland Bros. and take one of the little tablets before each meal. It will do you a world of good and you will soon be well and free from indigestion, and its symptoms. Rowland Bros. have so much faith in this medicine that they give an absolute guarantee with every box. Ask them to show this guarantee.

Called Back.

A commercial traveler for a London firm secured an order for £1,000 in the west of England and, as it was not duly acknowledged, wrote a letter to the firm calling special attention to it and saying, "I thought you would consider such an order quite a feather in my cap."

In reply he received this note from his principal: "We have filed your order and inclose for your cap the one feather you require."

After a fortnight came another letter from the firm: "The people who gave you the £1,000 order have failed, and we lose the goods. We have this day sent to you a bagful of feathers for you to fly home with, as we do not want you out on the road for us any more."—Strand Magazine.

Food Value of Cheese.

It is said that one pound of cheese is equal in food value to more than two pounds of meat. It is very rich in proteids and fat. Considering this, it is low in price when compared with meat and ought to do good service to the poor man in replacing occasionally the regular diet of meat. In America cheese is looked upon more as a side dish and luxury than in some parts of Europe. The Swiss peasant depends on it as a staple second only to bread, while the use of it in England and Germany is extensive.

Delay Fatal.

Visitor (to widow)—I am so sorry to hear of the sudden death of your husband. Did they hold a postmortem examination?

"Yes, and, like those doctors, they did not hold it until he was dead, or they might have saved his life."—Clinical Reporter.

What It Cost Him.

Mrs. Watts—There! We have cleared off the last of that church debt, and it never cost you men a cent. See what women can do. Mr. Watts—I don't know about the other fellows, but I know you have made me spend more than $100 for extra meals downtown while you were out monkeying around.

GLOVE NEWS.

The Correct Length For Mousquetaire Gloves—How to Clean Them.

One of the prettiest styles of elbow gloves yet shown is delicately shaded at the top an almost imperceptible mauve, with a slightly embossed and indefinitely traced pattern upon it of lilies of the valley or ivy leaves. Bas-relief patterns of the same indefinite and picturesque nature appear on the upper arm of white gloves, shaded a faint shell pink or a faint sea green.

Except for mourning wear, white gloves are worn upon all smart occasions. For evening wear the glove must rise beyond the elbow and meet the short sleeve more than half way up to the shoulder. For day wear the gloves are slightly shorter and need not rise higher than the elbow, for, although day gowns are worn with short sleeves this season, they are of necessity longer than those worn in the evening.

HAT OF BROWN CRIN.

For evening wear gloves inset with lace bracelets and motifs upon the upper arm are being shown, as well as gloves into which hand painted colored plaques have been introduced.

You can clean white kid gloves at home by this process: Place the glove in a small basin and pour over just enough benzoline to cover, set a plate over the basin so as to prevent the spirit evaporating and let the glove soak for five minutes. Have a thick cloth ready on the table and a piece of clean flannel, take the glove out of the basin, let it drip a little, set it on the cloth and wipe it with the flannel, changing the surface constantly as it is soiled. The glove must not be rubbed too hard or the surface will be spoiled. When the glove is quite clean, blow into it to inflate it and hang in the shade in a draft.

Very attractive is the hat pictured of brown crin. About the crown is a fold of black maline. A chou of maline fastens the panache of black ostrich feathers.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

DUDES OF OTHER TIMES.

Dress of a Dandy of the Early Nineteenth Century.

A cure for the confirmed railer against modern dress might be a course of inspection through a file of old fashion magazines or the perusal of such accounts as are given by the author of "Sketches of Lynn." The description is that of a suit worn in the first part of the nineteenth century.

The boots were an important article of dress. The toes were made as broad as the ball of the foot, with the corners well rounded, giving the shoe the resemblance to the snout of a shovel nosed shark. They were very snug and required strong straps. In order to get into a fashionable pair the heel of the stocking was well soaped and some pulverized soap sprinkled into the boot. The length of time it took to get one on depended on the strength of the owner and the strap.

The stylish overcoat displayed five capes, one above the other. The trousers were expected to fit as tight as the skin. Just how they were put on is a mystery. The coat was especially snug under the sleeves, and the velvet collar scraped up the back of the head. The camlet overcoats after a little wear, became as stiff as birch bark.

The thing worn about the neck was called a stock. This name was appropriate in its suggestion of an instrument of punishment. The stock was from three to six inches high, and was made stiff. A man was forced to look straight ahead. Only by careful management could he see a little on either side. About halfway between his eyes and ears two little points of collar stuck up like toothpicks.

Ruffled bosoms and wristbands finished the costume, with the addition of a tall silk hat. When inclosed in this manner, with a dash of attar of roses on his handkerchief, the man of the period was considered irresistible.

Lake Michigan "Seiches."

New words constantly assail unfamiliar eyes and send them to the dictionaries for enlightenment; new, not as fresh minted but new to most readers. Now we are told that Lake Michigan had the "seiches" the other day and its level rose several feet along the west shore. Ordinarily it would be called a tidal wave, but the lakes have no tides. So to the worterbuch. Seiches, pronounced 'sash' with the "a" long, is only an extraordinary change in the level of the lakes. Thus does our vocabulary grow.—St. Paul Dispatch.

DR. THOMAS' BALLOON VOYAGE

He Was in the Air for Twenty-Four Hours with a Balloon Carrying a Propellor.

New York, Aug. 27.—Dr. Julian P. Thomas, the amateur aeronaut who, with his brother Jefferson Davis Thomas, of Augusta, Ga., made a balloon ascension here Saturday evening, returned to his residence in Seventy-second street last night after having been in the air for nearly twenty-four hours, and having passed through two states and reached an altitude of about 10,000 feet. His voyage ended yesterday afternoon in Oakdale, Sullivan county, this state.

In relation to his experience Dr. Thomas said: "During the trip the propellor, which was carried for the first time, worked nicely. I found that we were able to go either to the left or right, and in fact turn the balloon completely around. About 9 o'clock last night the wind gave out, and so we made preparations for a descent. This we did successfully. We reached Bessemerville, N. J., and there made a descent. We had supper and stayed in a farm house all night. Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning we again ascended. We went up through the clouds and reached an altitude of 10,000 feet. I then slept for an hour.

"When I awoke I discovered that we were descending rapidly—in fact we were going down almost in a straight line. We then made preparations to land, but coming out of the clouds found ourselves over a forest. Throwing out the guy rope we caught hold of a tree and pulled ourselves to the earth."

SECRETARY ROOT'S VOYAGE

He Is Entertained on Chilean Soil at Punta Arenas—Will Visit Santiago.

Santiago de Chile, Aug. 27. — The United States cruiser Charleston, with Secretary of State Root on board, which left Bahia Blanca, Argentina, Aug. 20 reached Punta Arenas, the first port in Chile, Aug. 23, where it was met by a Chilean cruiser. Root was entertained by the local authorities and the United States consul gave a dinner in his honor. He exchanged telegrams from Punta Arenas with the Chilean minister of foreign affairs, and the United States minister at Santiago, Hicks.

The Charleston is due at Lota, 300 miles south of Valparaiso, Aug. 29. Root will visit Lota, Talcahuano and Concepcion with the minister of foreign affairs and Hicks. From Concepcion he will come to Santiago by rail. The original intention was to meet the United States secretary of state at Lota with the Chilean cruiser O'Higgins and proceed to Valparaiso, but the earthquake prevented the carrying out of this plan.

NEW STYLVE OF BOOZE

You Inhale It and Local Option Nor the Lid Has Anything to Say.

St. Louis, Aug. 27.—Gasoline is the latest addition to the long list of intoxicants. A number of young men in the vicinity of Marcus and St. Louis avenues, this city, has discovered the intoxicating ingredients of gasoline, according to Deputy Collector John E. McKenna. The gasoline is not used as a beverage, but is inhaled by the consumer until he has accumulated enough to produce a sort of etheral drunk.

A gallon of gasoline is sufficient to set a small army tipsy. Aside from the economy of the spree is the fact that one can be indulged in on Sunday, as the state laws do not require merchants selling it to take out dramshop licenses.

Plot Against a Count.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—Private advices received here from Tiflis are to the effect that a plot on the life of Count Von Vorontzoff-Dashkoff, viceroy of the Caucasus, has been discovered and that many arrests have been made, including several officers.

REGIMENTAL REUNIONS AND FORTY-THIRD ANNIVERSARY BATTLE CHICKAMAUGA,

Chattanooga, September 18-20, 1906.

On September 18, 1906, will occur the forty-third anniversary of the Battle of Chickamauga. It is proposed to celebrate this memorable event with a reunion of the various regiments that participated in this memorable battle and the various battles fought around Chattanooga. This reunion will be held at Chickamauga National Park, September 18, 19 and 20, and the present indications are that it will be the argest and most notable gathering ever held in the South. On the above dates, the remnants from the armies of twelve states, comprising the following: Pensylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and Kentucky, will assemble, many for the first and last time since they marched from its blood-stained fields, forty-three years ago.

Here is one of the great opportunities for the education of the youth. Don't fail to take your children and show them historic Chattanooga, with all its historical connections. It is the opportunity of a lifetime. Go and see the old war generals and other officers point out the places of interest on the battlefield; let them show you and explain, in person, the markers erected on the battlefield showing the positions of the opposing armies at the time of battle. It will not be long until none will be left to do this noble work.

It will be many years, if ever again, that such an opportunity will present itself. See that your tickets read via the Louisville & Nashville R. R., the Battlefield Route. Call on your nearest railroad agent for rates and advertising matter pertaining to the reunion, or write nearest representative of the Louisville & Nashville R. R.

"A WOMAN sighs, 'I wish.' A man should say, 'I will.'"

Norris read from an old commonplace book, adding, with a little laugh: "Lord, how this generation discounts that fine piece of Bulwer's sentimentality! Women nowadays have got past sighing anything. Instead they say things, and, behold, the things are done."

"Which means, if anything, that you're dead sore," Marvin retorted, pulling hard at his pipe. "I don't wonder at it," he went on. "You were so immortally certain Baby Curran would make ducks and drakes of her venture, when, lo, she's succeeded in a way to astonish everybody."

"Wrong, as usual," Norris commented. Marvin shook his head, with a lazy laugh, saying: "George, but I'm glad Daddy Curran left nothing but debts and a livery stable to his flock of children. There was nothing for Baby to do except keep on with the business"—

"There was. She might have married me," Norris interrupted. "She knew I'd look out for her stepmother and the kids"—

"No doubt," Marvin broke in, "but that isn't Baby's way. Don't you remember how at school she wouldn't be told in class or have her sums done for her? Honest independence is her ruling passion—so much so, indeed, I feared to have her go into this. Daddy Curran never thought of doubting anybody's word until he had to. I thought Baby was off the same piece. So she is, but she's got something else in her. Her spot cash conscience, she calls it. I heard her explaining to old Major Axtun that the way to avoid bad debts was to have no debts at all and let the bank do all the bookkeeping."

Norris drummed hard on the table. "I'm a fool to keep on caring!" he burst out. "She puts me aside like a last year's bonnet; won't hear to marrying me until the debts are paid and Benny boy through school and ready to step into her shoes. That means four years at least. Meantime there's the devil to pay with my people. They're not purse proud, but who can blame them if they don't want to welcome as a daughter a headstrong young woman who has made herself the talk of the county, not even though she did it with the best intentions in the world? My mother was at me yesterday, asking me if I wanted a wife who had grown sharp at bargaining with half the horse dealers and teamsters in the countryside. It seems Baby is setting up to buy saddle stock"—

"I don't know anybody with a better right. She knows horses better than the most of us," Marvin interposed. "And, all things considered, it is a good thing. She has her market ready made, as it were. Those city folks take everything of class she can find them and pay her a handsome profit."

"You seem to hold a brief for her," Norris said sulkily, a gleam of suspicion in his eyes. "It might be well for you to join hands with her. You might make more at horse dealing than you ever did at the law."

"Very likely—if I had Baby's chance. But certainly I shan't scheme to take it from her," Marvin said steadily; then, flushing a little, he added: "I would be only too glad to join hands with her in anything—and for life. But she has let me know that's out of the question. When she set you free she left herself bound, little as you deserve it."

The last word was flung over his shoulder. He had risen and was striding toward the door. Norris looked after him, half angrily, half shamedly, then glanced about the handsomely appointed office with a scowling sneer. His grandfather had been governor, his father was a senator, his mother led society in Allingham. Naturally she looked high for her only son, much higher than a bankrupt's daughter, who had taken upon her shoulders an unwomanly burden. Still she had not set herself openly against her son's choice. She had even approved, though mildly, his intention of constancy. How, then, should he suspect that she was planning to upset that intention? The hinge of the plan was Miss Althea Roswell—a beauty, Miss Althea, if one could have overlooked her nose. Unfortunately it stood out so boldly overlooking it was impossible, even in the effulgence of her many dollars. It was the nose as much as anything else that had made Granville Norris feel so much at ease with her. She had come for a long visit, and Allingham was making much of her, yet somehow she had not been brought face to face with Baby, who had nowadays little time and less money for ruffling it in the town gayeties. Norris himself saw her but in little snatches. She went and came so uncertainly and at such odd times he could not waylay her and calls were out of the question. The little new home was so crowded it was impossible to say anything there without having it reach all ears. Norris felt that there was much which ought to be said, but somehow had not yet brought himself to the pitch of saying it.

He glanced out of the window, his eyes brightening as they fell upon his mother, driving her pony chaise, with Althea snug beside her. He rushed out to greet them and almost dragged them inside. Very shortly thereafter he went away with them—upon an errand he did not in the least relish. Miss Althea had heard of Baby Curran's venture; further, she had lost her heart to a fine saddle mare Baby had just bought and sent out to exercise. She meant to have the creature at almost any price, so Norris, perforce, went along to see the bargaining. He did not go quite blindly. Though he had never let himself acknowledge it, he was not insensible to what he would gain if he could bring himself to marry Miss Roswell. If he meant ever to do that, it was well not to set the new fancy beside the old. He writhed at the thought, hoping against hope for some miraculous chance to take Baby away. But, most inconsistently, he felt a flooding gladness at sight of her, smiling a welcome from the door of the neat dingy office.

She was sorry, dreadfully sorry, but Black Leezy was not to be bought. She had been bought, indeed, upon a special order from the city stable and would be sent there as soon as ever she got a little wonted to the bustle of streets. Yes, she had got a fine commission. No, Miss Roswell could not have the mare by doubling, trebling, quadrupling it—not for anything at all. She (Baby) was sorry to seem disobliging, but she could do nothing else. She had given her word and must keep it; had promised the dealer the best horse to be found and, having found one without a match, was bound to let him have it.

Miss Roswell had been silken soft at the outset. Finding herself thus withstood for the sake of what seemed to her a fine spun scruple, she showed a temper as high as her nose and flounced across the stall front, saying to Mrs. Norris in pretended aside: "Isn't it lucky? I didn't really want the mare—only to see what a woman horse jockey is like. She's not bad looking either. You might take her to be quite respectable—unless you knew better."

Baby heard every word, as Miss Roswell meant she should. She stepped back a pace, going white, then red, her hands hanging helplessly at her sides. Norris likewise heard; he flushed darkly and made as if to stand by his sweetheart. But his mother was calling him, likewise his duty as a courteous host. With a look half angry, half apologetic, he followed the two retreating figures toward their carriage. Halfway to it he stopped and half turned about, to see Marvin standing with Baby's hand in his, her face raised to his and her eyes wet. Instantly he flung back to them, but Baby waved him away. When he had gone and the carriage was out of hearing, she said to Marvin, with a little hard breath: "Poor Granville! I ought not to blame him. He has maybe caught my faith in spot cash."

Then, most unaccountably, she hid her face in her hands and sobbed hard a minute, but looked up after it, smiling a brave yet piteous smile. Marvin took her hand again and pressed it ever so little, saying in a half whisper: "Honey, cry all you want to between now and the New Year. We are going to get married then and live happy ever after."

Baby's answer was a blush and silence, but the wedding came off duly, a month ahead of the Norris-Roswell affair.

Another Way to Put It.

"A shining example of private virtue and an exalted teacher of good and honest government" is the description of Robert Toombs of Georgia given in "The Brother's War." Toombs was a prominent character for many years before the war and served in the two houses of congress about fifteen years. He was afterward secretary of state in the Confederate government.

He had a wit and a fineness of expression, says the author, which made his phrases and repartee widely quoted and made him the delight of appreciative audiences.

A rival candidate, really conspicuous and celebrated for his little ability, in a stump debate pledged the people that if they would send him to congress he would never leave his post during a session to attend the courts, as he unjustly charged Toombs with habitually doing. Toombs disposed of this fling by merely saying:

"You should consider which will hurt the district the more, his constant presence in or my occasional absence from the house."

GEN. MIN THE LATEST VICTIM

Murdered by a Mere Girl in the Presence of His Wife.

DONE AT A RAILWAY STATION

Attempt to Assassinate Premier Stolypin—His Summer Home the Scene—Twenty-Eight Dead; Many Injured.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27. — Saturday's unsuccessful attempts on the life of Premier Stolypin, with its sickening, useless slaughter of thirty-two persons, was followed last night by another revolutionary outrage in which General Min, commander of the Seminovsky guard regiment, and who, since his promotion to be a general has been attached as a personal adjutant ot the suite of the emperor, was killed on the station platform at Peterhof by a young woman, who fired five shots into his body from an automatic revolver, and then, without resistance, submitted to arrest. The capture of the girl was effected by General Min's wife, who held her until the arrival of an officer.

Had Been "Condemned to Death."

This was the third successive attempt on the life of General Min, who was "condemned to death" by the terrorists immediately after the Moscow revolt last December on account of the stern repression practiced by a battalion under his command, and especially for the wholesale execution of persons condemned by drum-head court martial for being caught with arms in their hands.

Had a Bomb with Her, Too.

General Min was returning from his summer residence at Peterhof, and had just greeted his wife and daughter on the platform, when a young woman—almost a girl—approached from behind and fired two shots into his back, and then three more into his body as it sank to the ground. Further shots were prevented by Madame Min, who threw herself upon the murderess and seized the hand which held the pistol. The woman did not attempt to escape, but she cautioned Madame Min not to touch a handbag which she had placed on the platform before shooting the general, explaining that it contained a bomb.

Thought Himself Safe.

To the police the girl acknowledged that she had done the deed, saying she had executed the sentence of the fighting organization of the Social Revolutionists, but she refused to give her name. By a remarkable mischance General Min only last week, after the conclusion of the manoeuvers at Krasnoye-Selo, dismissed the bodyguard which had accompanied him since the first attempt was made on his life, saying that the ordinary police of Peterhof will be sufficient to guard him and his villa at Peterhof.

ATTEMPT ON STOLYPIN'S LIFE

Fiends Work Death to Thirty-Two Persons in the Attempt.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—The daughter of Premier Stolypin, who was injured by the bomb explosion in the premier's summer home Saturday, and who was erroneously reported to have died, is still alive and passed a quiet night under the effects of an opiate. The premier's son, who also was hurt, is better. Two more persons injured by the explosion died during the night, bringing the total number of deaths up to thirty-two. Twenty-six were instantly killed. The central committee of the Social Revolutionists has drawn up a proclamation which declares that unless the government forthwith alters its policy such acts as the attempt on the life of Premier Stolypin will be pursued to the utmost and government representatives will be killed by hundreds.

Twenty-four persons were wounded as the result of the dastardly attempt to assassinate Premier Stolypin while he was holding a public reception at his country house at on Aptekarsky island. The premier was slightly wounded on the face and neck by flying splinters. Among the dead are the following: General Zameatin, the premiers' personal secretary; M. Khovostoff, ex-governor of the province of Penza; Colonel Federoff, chief of the premier's personal guard; Court Chamberlain Davidoff, Court Chamberlain Voronin, Aide Doubassoff, four women and two children, Prince Nakasidge, Police Officer Konunzeff, several guards and seven servants. The wounded include M. Stolypins' 3-year-old son, who is seriously, though not fatally, injured, and a number of persons prominent in the social and official worlds.

Of the four conspirators who engineered the outrage two were killed with their victims, while the third, who acted as coachman for the party, and the fourth, who remained inside the carriage, were badly wounded and are now in the St. Peter and St. Paul fortress.

ALL EYE-WITNESSES KILLED

How It Was Done Will Never, Probably, Be Known.

Whether the assassins who entered the crowded reception hall threw the bomb or accidentally dropped it probably never will be known, as all the immediate eye-witnesses were killed. The tremendous force of the explosion absolutely blew out the front of the premier's residence and carried away the ceilings above and the floors beneath and the walls of the adjoining rooms. People were literally blown to pieces. Those who were not killed instantly were horribly maimed or lacerated, and all the others present were prostrated by the shock.

The premier's escape was miraculous, for only a moment before the explosion took place he had stepped inside his study at the rear of the salon to speak to Prince Shakovsky. The havoc wrought by the explosion is indescribable. Bodies were so torn or mangled as to make identification impossible, some of them headless, armless or legless, lying among the blood-dripping wreckage. Pieces of flesh and clothing clung to the shattered rafters overhead and some lodged in the branches of the elm trees which border the roadway separating the premier's residence from the river.

The fiends who committed this atrocity came here from Moscow. The chief of the assassins, whose body is now guarded by troops, is apparently about 25 years old. He wore a brand new uniform of a gen d'arme, beneath which he had on a civilian vest of very dirty linen. Another assassin also wore a gen d'arme's uniform, the other wore civilian dress. Two stayed with the carriage, while the others made their way into the villa. These last two were killed and the others wounded.

STOLYPIN KNEW HIS PERIL

Hoped Order Would Be Restored Before He Was Killed.

When M. Stolypin accepted the premiership he was perfectly conscious of his personal danger. One of his remarks at a recent interview was: "I have no doubt that attempts will be made upon my life, but I hope that order will be restored and stability established in Russia before any are successful."

To fight this crusade the fighting organization, which is composed of a wing known as Maximists, and who believe in setting up a purely socialistic state upon the ruins of the autocracy, have deliberately entered upon a duel with the government such as that which characterized the famous fight of the nihilists in the late '70's and which ended in the assassination of Emperor Alexander II.

The police have been unsuccessful in getting on the real track of the conspiracy beyond establishing from the text of the death sentence found on the body of one of the dead assassins that the band belonged to the Maximists, better known as the "Flying group" of the Social Revolutionists. This group is thus designated because it operates on an unfixed base. It has been responsible for the most of the recent assassinations, not having accepted the dictum of the larger "fighting organization" of the Social Revolutionists to discontinue activity during the session of parliament.

Among its members, who do not exceed a few hundreds, were Mlle. Spiridonovo, who shot Chief of the Secret Police at Luzhenoffsky at Tambov; Mlle. Barbara Printz, who committed suicide after the premature explosion of a bomb intended for Govenor General Kaulbars; the slayer of General Kozlov, of the headquarter staff, who was murdered in the park at Peterhof July 14, and Belenzoff, the principal of the great Moscow bank robbery.

It is stated that the man who threw or dropped the bomb was named Morosoff, and that he was a native of Ryazan province. Among the killed were nearly all the agents of the secret police in the house, including four women detectives. Several persons were warned beforehand that an attempt on the life of the premier would be made.

MILITARY DICTATORSHIP

Czar Urged to Authorize That Measure, but Holds Back.

Talk of a military dictatorship is again in the air. According to a report current a meeting of the camarilla discussed the question at Peterhof, and a majority was in favor of such a step. Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, who had just returned from calling on Premier Stolypin, was especially in favor of the plan. It is said that after the meeting Grand Duke Nicholas and others of the grand dukes went to the emperor to demand his authorization, but up to the present moment this has not ben received.

Warsaw, Aug. 27.T—The Social Democratic party and the socialistic organization of the proletariat have issued protests accusing and condemning the Polish Socialist party for the recent aimless masacre of police and soldiers.

Horrible and Fatal Accident.

Houston, Tex., Aug. 27.—At Batson oil field Fred Bell attemped to start a gasoline engine. His foot slipped and caught in the spokes of the flywheel and his leg was torn off, only strings of flesh holding it. He soon died afterwards.

Escaping Prisoner Killed.

Pittsburg, Aug. 27.—While trying to escape arrest Herbert Gowland, a machinist, was shot and killed by Policeman David Bowles.

NO AMNESTY IN CUBA

Government Considers an Offer of Thirty Days, but Lets the Matter Drop.

SITUATION IS DECIDEDLY BAD

People Go as Their Leaders Go, Like a Flock of Sheep.

More of Them Take to the Brush—Santa Clara a Hotbed of Revolution—Talk of Intervention by Uncle Sam.

Havana, Aug. 27.—The anxiety of President Palma to extend every possible opportunity for peace without bloodshed, and his desire to permit those who joined the insurrection under misguidance to repent and return to their homes unmolested, combined with the general wish to end a situation fraught with so much loss and suffering, has led to consideration by the president and his cabinet of a project decreeing a thirty-day amnesty period, during which the insurrectionists are invited to lay down their arms and return to their peaceful pursuits. It was proposed to issue the decree today, but persons close to the president strongly opposed the measure and the matter was deferred, and may be relinquished.

Situation Increasingly Serious.

General Montalvo, who is now acting secretary of the interior, said to the Associated Press that at present there was no intention to issue an amnesty. Font Sterling, secretary of the treasury, said the matter was not being seriously considered now, and other friends of President Palma declared it would be an unwise move. So far as actual conflict went Sunday proved to be a day of inactivity, but preparations proceeded without abatement. A fund of $2,000,000 has been set aside by the treasury for defense, and drafts on it are heavy and constant. The situation is increasingly serious.

Intervention Not Improbable.

It is learned that several new insurgent bands have taken to the brush. The growth of the insurrection certainly seems to keep pace with the preparations for suffocating it. All discussion leads inevitably to the subject of United States intervention. If the conflict should last for a long time intervention is considered to loom as a tolerably certain eventuality. If the government subdues the insurrection and chastises, wounds or kills members of the Liberal party the feeling of rancor is expected to continue for years. If the insurrectionists prevail it is predicted that uncertain conditions are bound to continue.

Outlook Is Discouranaging.

Santa Clara is becoming a thorough insurrectionist province. Some villages have become wholly insurrectionist, and even larger towns in some cases have taken up arms against the government. The attitude of the people is entirely a question of the attitude of the leaders. An ex-mayor of Trinidad has suddenly placed himself at the head of a band of 100 insurgents. The mayor of Las Cruces is leading a band from his town consisting of 200 men.

NERVE ASCRIBED TO CAPOTE

Reported To Be Discussing His Own Supersession of Palma,

Havana, Aug. 27.—The Associated Press learns that there are grave differences between President Palma and Vice President Mendez Capote. The latter is suspected of having considered with Senator Alfredo Zayas, president of the Liberal party, the question of whether peace could not be restored by Palma's withdrawal from the presidency, by permitting Mendez Capote to succeed him, and by giving certain posts to the Liberals. None of the parties concerned was willing to discuss this matter, but the source of the correspondent's information is entirely reliable.

Major Gomez, of the government, reports another engagement with insurgents near Cascabal, in which several men were killed or wounded. Details of this affair have not yet been received here. The presence of small parties of insurrectionists is reported daily in the four western provinces, principally in Havana and Santa Clara. A band of 100 rebels entered Las Lojas, Santa Clara province, and got away with the contents of the local treasury, $8,000, and all the horses in town. The government has discovered that the movements of Pino Guerra and other important revolutionary commanders are directed by a committee of revolutionary veterans in Havana. This practice will be broken up, and several arrests are expected.

The government announces the capture of ex-Representative Carlos Mendieta, the leader of the insurgents in Santa Clara province. He had $8,000 on his person when caught. The capture of Mendieta is of great importance.

The fights since last report—that are worth noting—are few, but 150 rural guards under Major Gomez attacked the rebel Reinosas and 200 followers near Santa Rosa and killed or wounded at least twenty of the rebels, who ran at the first fire.

At La Cruces, Santa Clara, the mayor, police, most of the common council and officials, all the rural guards and 300 citizens have joined the rebels.

At San Juan de Martinez all is quiet except for the noise made by the guards shooting at imaginary objects, the result so far being the killing of two brothers asleep in a farm house.

HEBREW ORPHANS BARRED

Not Allowed to Stay in This Country, Though All Were Provided with Homes.

New York, Aug. 27.—The case of forty Russian Hebrew children who arrived here Saturday on the steamship Amerika was heard by the board of special inquiry at the immigration station on Ellis island, and the board decided that the children should be excluded from this country. Accordingly their deportation was ordered. This, however, is not final and the case has already gone on appeal to Washington.

The children, all of them made orphans by the recent massacres in Russia, were gathered from the centers of the recent trouble and brought here in charge of Mrs. Sophie Perlmann, of Berlin. Wealthy Hebrews of this city supplied the funds and secured homes throughout the country where the children could be sent. Secretary Waldman, of the United Hebrew Charities, appeared in behalf of the children. He said they would be well cared for, educated and looked after, and that there was no chance that they would become charges on the public. But they were barred out.

Passenger Steamer Illinois Ashore.

Charlevoix, Mich., Aug. 27. — While attempting to enter the harbor the passenger steamer Illinois, of the Northern Michigan Transportation company's fleet, went on the beach about 200 feet south of the pier, and now rests with her bow three feet out on a sandy bottom. Unless a storm springs up it is believed the steamer can be release without serious injury.

Been Counterfeiting Checks.

Albia, Ia., Aug. 27.—Two men were arrested here for the alleged counterfeiting of three checks of the Black Diamond Store, of Ottumwa. A search of the house of one of the men brought to light $200 worth of the alleged spurisimile of a check printed in a newspaious checks. There is $500 worth of similar checks in the hands of Ottumwa merchants.

The Way Jenkins Views It.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Aug. 27.—Representative J. J. Jenkins, chairman of the committee on judiciary in the national house of representatives, when interviewed on the Cuban question said that on April 17, 1902, he made a speech insisting that Cuba was a part of the United States, and therefore was domestic and not foreign territory.

Gas Overcomes Coal Miners.

Pittsburg, Kan., Aug. 27.—Thirty miners at shaft No. 6 of the Southwestern Development company were overcome by gas and poisonous air. The victims are in a serious condition, but all are expected to recover. Antone Kaufe, another miner employed by the company, was kiled by a fall of rock.

Bullets Fly Wild.

A shooting affray Saturday night about ten o'clock stirred up the quiet village of Rockton, Winnebago county, into considerable excitement. Charles Nystrom had just returned from Beloit, where he had evidently found some beverage stronger than iced tea. In passing the park he saw two young men in conversation whom his overheated imagination probably construed into a band of desperadoes. He straitway pulled his revolver and began to fire with unsteady aim. The men sought the shelter of the trees and a couple of the stray bullets winged their way into the Congregational parsonage. Nystrom was disarmed and taken care of by the marshal.

Miss Karolyn Taylor entertained about eighteen of her little friends with a lawn party on Saturday evening.

MOTHER WANTS HER CHILDREN

MONGOVEN VS. MONGOVEN HABEAS CORPUS CASE TRIED BEFORE JUDGE FARRAND

HARMON HAS NO CLUE TO THIEVES

Sweet Property Sold—Rural Carrier No. 2. Will Deliver Mail At Van Patten Office.

Harmon, Aug. 27 — Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock will be tried in Dixon before Judge Farrand the habeas corpus case of Henry J. Mongoven vs. Catharine A. Mongoven.

This proceeding is an outgrowth of the family trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Mongoven,o ne phase of which was tried before Justice Sweet here on July 23rd last, resulting in the defendant being bound over for three months, under $200 bonds, to keep the peace. This case is now pending in the circuit court on appeal.

At the time of Henry Mongoven's arrest on July 14, Mrs. Mongoven took charge of the two children who are now and since July 14 have been in her keeping. The proceedings before Judge Farrand Wednesday are to decide who shall have the custody of the two minor children, Lea, aged nine years and Marie, aged seven. Attorney H. A. Brooks will appear for the plaintiff and States Attorney Wooster for the defendant.

There Is Still No Clue.

No clue has yet been obtained to the robbers who broke into nearly every business house in town early Friday morning.

As there have been no suspicious characters seen in the town lately, it is believed that the robbers came here after night from a nearby city. People from the country who were in town late have all been accounted for, yet the road west of town was traveled about two o'clock on Friday morning. Two families living between here and Sterling were awakened by the barking of dogs at about that hour and distinctly heard the rattle of a buggy, but no voices.

Sweet Property Sold.

George W. Saum has entered into an agreement to purchase the John T. Sweet place west of town. There are ten acres of land, on which are a small house, outbuildings and an orchard. The consideration agreed upon is $1400.

Mr. Saum will make a chicken ranch out of his purchase and expects to clear as much money as he would by farming. To begin with Mrs. Saum has raised five hundred chickens this year, the best of which will be saved as a nucleus for the ranch next year.

Mail Delivered To Van Patten.

More orders relating to the Van Patten postoffice have been received here. The latest is that the carrier on route No. 2 from Harmon shall continue to deliver mail to the Van Patten office, and then wait at that place thirty minutes for mail to be forwarded.

This order is to take effect on September 1st, and the reason for it appears to be the desire of the department to allow answers to letters to be dispatched through the rural carrier system the same day they are received, thus removing the principal objection to the carrier system urged by the business interests of Van Patten.

What the outcome will be no man can tell, although the latest move would indicate that the department intends to attempt to give such good service by the carrier system as will remove all objection to it, and by so doing be rid of the expense of the Van Patten office.

Hackett Improves Farm.

J. P. Hackett of Bloomington, Ill., who recently bought 240 acres of land of A. G. Van Patten, is now erecting four buildings thereon, a house 28x28, a barn 20x40, a corn crib 26x60 feet and a small outbuilding. J. H. Rhodenbaugh is the contractor employed by Mr. Hackett. This farm lies a mile north and a half mile west of Van Patten station and is in Whiteside county.

Personals.

Abram Morrison of Dixon transacted business here Friday and Saturday. He was the guest of John T. Sweet.

States Attorney Wooster of Amboy was here Friday on legal business.

Supervisor Thomas P. Long was a business visitor in Dixon Friday.

J. E. Du Vall of Dixon visited his sister, Mrs. A. Purcell, Thursday.

Frank Vaughan of Amboy, democratic candidate for county treasurer, was a Harmon visitor Thursday.

Pres Roosevelt Adopts Carnegie Reform Spelling

President Roosevelt today announced that he had adopted the Carnegie reform spelling, and instructed the public printer that all official documents from the White House, including the president's messages, shall be printed in accordance with the recommendations of the spelling reform committee, headed by Brander Matthews, of Columbia university.

The committee has published a list of 300 words in which the spelling is reformed. The list contains such words as "thru" and "tho" as in spelling for "through and "though." The president's official sanction for this reform movement is regarded as the most effective and the speediest method of inaugurating the new system of spelling throughout the country. Not only will printed documents emanating from the president utilize reform spelling, but his correspondence also will be spelled in the new style. Secretary Loeb has sent for a list of three hundred words which have been reformed, and immediately upon its arrival will order all correspondence of the president and executive force of the White House spelled in accordance therewith. As spelling reform committees will adopt new reforms they will be added to the president's list and also to that of the public printer.

While the order to the printer does not contemplate immediate reform in spelling of the official documents from the executive department in Washington, it is regarded as more than likely that the respective heads of the departments will fall in line with the president's ideas and have their official documents printed in the new style spelling.

On June 18, last, the simplified spelling board made public a list of three hundred simplified spellings which had been decided upon by the board. The list is as follows:

Abridgment, accounter, accurst, acknowledgment, addrest, adz, affixt, altho, anapest, anemia, anasthesia, anasthetic, antipyrin, antitoxin, apothem, apprize, arbor, archeology, ardor, armor, artizan, assize, ax.

JUDGE FARRAND HOLDS COURT AT FREEPORT

Judge R. S. Farrand will hold court at Freeport commencing on Tuesday, September 4th. The term gives promise of being a very quiet one.

NORTHWESTERN FIREMAN INJURED AT NELSON

P. L. Quillen, a fireman on the Northwestern railroad, received a bad injury while he was taking water for his engine Friday evening at Nelson. The crane which furnishes the water for the locomotive struck the young man on the hip injuring it and badly bruising his body. He was taken to Sterling to the home of Dr. Frank Anthony, the company physician, where he was taken care of. The mishap will cause the fireman to take an enforced vacation.

FATHERS FOLEY AND CLANCY ATTEND NOTRE DAME RETREAT

Rev. Father Foley and Rev. Father Clancy of St. Patrick's Catholic church will leave this evening for Notre Dame, Ind., to attend the annual retreat of the church. Bishop Quigley will be in charge. The annual custom of the gathering for a week of prayer and consecration is growing in favor and the gathering this year promises to be much more interesting than usual. About 600 Catholics of the Chicago diocese will attend.

NO VERDICT YET IN THE FURST INQUEST

The jury which inquired into the death of Mrs. Steffie Furst at Freeport, who was burned to death in he rhome, has not yet brought in a verdict. It is probable that as soon as the foreman can get into communication with the coroner, a verdict of accidental death will be signed up, as all evidences tending to any other cause has disappeared.

GAVE CUTICULE TO SAVE A PLAYMATE

Twenty-Four Argyle boys allowed a physician to cut strips of skin from their arms and graft them onto the back of a playmate, whose recovery after an operation was impossible unless this was done. The youngsters all exhibited nerve and friendship not often found.

Miss Elsie Gaulrapp went to Sterling Saturday afternoon to attend the funeral of a friend.

A. I. Gage was in Clinton, Iiwa last Saturday to attend the funeral of a relative.

PROPHET PROPHESIED DREADFUL QUAKES

SAYS ALL CITIES OF THE EARTH SHALL BE DESTROYED IN YEAR 1982.

THE EARTH IS OUT OF PLUMB

There Will Be a New Earth and a New Heaven Referred To In the Scriptures.

Prepare for shocks. Prophet Edmund S. Stevens of Washington has prophesied a long series of dreadful catastrophies which will culminate ni the destruction of all the cities of the earth in the year of our Lord 1982.

Mother earth is out of plumb, according to this prophet and all the terrible earthquakes that have occurred and are yet to come are due to the fact that the earth is gradually resuming its proper position. When this stage of transition is reached there will be a new earth and a new heaven referred to in the scriptures.

Prophecy of Stevens.

The prophecy follows:

CAUSE OF EARTHQUAKES.

The earth is out of her place or upright position. It is gradually resuming it. Whenever there is an accelerated or faster motion then in that period earthquakes occur. We are now in one of these periods, from Mount Pelee, 1900, to 1905. Again from 1925 to 1946 and again from 1965 to 2000 A. D.

In 1982 the earthquake is of such extent that all the cities of all the nations fall. From 2035 to 2144 A. D. the earth is in continual perturbation and in the latter year it settles in its upright position. This brings in the new heaven and the new earth.

EDMUND S. STEVENS.

Prophet Stevens proves all his predictions by an elaborate collection of charts which are intelligible to him only.

ROCKFORD FACTORIES DOING BIG BUSINESS

The Rockford papers say that nearly all the factories in that city are being enlarged, and among the managers and superintendents there is a general feeling that business along all lines of manufacture will be greater than ever next year. Already orders for large deliveries are placed on the books of many of the firms.

HAD ARM CRUSHED IN A PULLEY

Saturday while directing men in his plant on the water power at Rockford, Darrel D. Shierk, the head of the boiler making firm of D. D. Shierk & Company, was caught in a pulley, his arm being broken in six or eight places and terribly mangled, his body bruised and other injuries inflicted.

Crushed Between Cars.

While passing between two strings of freight cars in the Kenosha division yards of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad in Rockford at noon Saturday, John G. Smith, stone cutter for Contractor Thomas Winchester, was fatally injured, being caught between the bumpers of the cars as they were hurled together by a switch engine working in the yards. He died at the Cit yhospital at 12:40.

Took Her For a Squirrel.

Mrs. George Cooper, aged 65, of Benn Center, near Milwaukee, was shot through the head Friday by a hunter who mistook her for a squirrel. She was picking berries. The hunter saw only the top of her hair above the bushes.

YOU MUST NOT PAY MOTORMAN

PATRONS OF CITY CARS ARE REQUESTED TO DROP FARES IN THE BOXES.

ENVELOPE MUST CONTAIN CHANGE

Passengers Should Assist Car Men To Comply With Orders and Not Offer Them Fares.

Orders have been given by Superintendent John Powers to the motormen on the city cars which considerate patrons might well remember if they desire to help the motormen in the performance of their duty.

It is required by the company that hereafter the motormen on the city cars do not accept fares from passengers but that every passenger be asked to drop his or her fare into the fare boxes at the ends of the cars. It is further ordered that motormen use the exchange packages exclusively in giving change to patrons, and that no money be given in change unless it be that enclosed in those envelops. Passengers on the city cars might do well if they refrain from offering fares to the motormen direct instead of depositing them in fare boxes.

Miss Allie McMahon and Attorney J. K. McMahon of Chicago are here visiting at the Wm. Edwards home up the river.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Quincy Stevens and Miss Babcock of Chicago, who have been camping near Grand Detour, have broken camp and returned to their homes.

Hervey Ferguson of Orleans, Neb., is here visiting with his brother, A. S. Ferguson. Hervey left Dixon for the west in 1869 and he finds very few of his old associates among the present citizens.

Sporting News and Notes.

Browns Beat Morrison.

Morrison mixed it with the Browns Sunday afternoon at Central park before a crowd of five hundred people and met defeat by a score of 7 to 4 after a most exciting time. Rowdy tactics were displayed throughout the game, giving the fans much to think about, and several times came near precipitating a general rough house. The trouble started when the game was called. Umpire Gannon announced the batteries and there followed a storm of protest from the Morrison team and their Sterling adherents at the idea of Gannon umpiring. The question was argued for a few minutes when it was settled by substituting Rev. Clancy for Gannon.

Morrison started the run getting in the second .Barry led off with a hit and stole second. C. Smith rapped out a two bagger scoring Barry and he himself scored on a passed ball. Two to nothing looked dark for the Browns and it was enhanced in the fourth by the addition of one more. That was the limit. The locals couldn't stand for it and Cuthbert came to bat with a hit in his stick. Harrigan followed with a three sacker, scoring Jimmie, and Stift rapped out a single making one more. Drew walked and it was beginning to look like a tie when Woodyatt and Whipple struck out and M. Woodyatt fouled to Lucas.

The run getting started, there appeared to be no stop for it. Bales came in the fifth with a single and stole second. L. Woodyatt's attempted sacrifice landed him safe at first and Bales at third. Then came Coal Hole Jimmie. The latter had three singles tucked in the end of the bat, but instead of scattering them he bunched them for a triple driving both men home. Harrigan's two bagger scored Cuthbert, and Stift popped to C. Smith. Drew hit, scoring Harrigan but was caught trying to stretch his single to a two baser. H. Woodyatt got it the same way ending the inning but the score was 6 to 3. Assisted by two errors a base on balls and Drew's two bagger the locals added another in the seventh and left it for the visitors to get one to put to their measly three in the eighth.

The score:

Eacos Defeated.

The Eacos met defeat at Harmon Sunday afternoon at the hands of the Harmon regulars by the score of 11 to 4 in a pretty good game. A large crowd of Harmon fans turned out to see the game and they were well repaid for appearing, a good specimen of the game being presented.

Didn't Backus Tell You?

Backus and his coming champions rubbed it into the railroaders at Central park Sunday morning while the dew was still on the grass, piling up a total of 13 while their opponents were getting 12. Of course the 13 loomed up like black-face type to the prints and the 12 looked like pica when the game was over, but there were times when the exponents of the Chinese art were really scared. Now, since the much mooted question of the superiority between the two teams is settled it is hoped that the excitement will die down and quiet will reign.

Firemen Win Again.

Up at Grand Detour Sunday tradition was again upset when the Dixon firemen's team beat Grand Detour by the score of 14 to 7. What is getting to trouble the Dixon men is not known, but there is evidence that there is something wrong else Grandy would not have been twice beaten by the Dixon bunch. The stick work of Null, Coffey, Joynt and Haller won the game for the locals and the pretty work of Talty behind the bat cut off several budding Grand Detour runs.

Browns Play DeKalb.

The Browns go to DeKalb tomorrow morning to play the DeKalb team there tomorrow afternoon at the big Eagles' festival held in DeKalb. The team will leave at 10:32. Tomorrow at DeKalb will be the big day of all the Eagles and it is expected that the city will have thousands of visitors. A fare of one and one third for the round trip will be given and it may be secured if twenty-five agree to go. Otherwise a party tickets will be bought for the team. Dixon Eagles should make a good showing at the festival.

Beautiful Brugmasia.

The beautiful brugmasia, commonly called "angel trumpets," ghost flowers or alba Alcibiades, with their fine, fragrant flowers, can be seen nearly every night, bending, bowing and blooming, in elegant, exquisite ecstacy on the Hayden and Day south east garden. It is indeed a sweet sight to admire dozens of these bright bells of beauty, sweetly surrounded by choice, charming colors of other fine, fascinating flowers, white as snow, pure and perfect as gold and lovely as the lily of the valley.

D. F. H.

Frank and Harry Stephan, Allen Buckaloo, Frank Chiverton, Eli Rosenthal and Harry Teachout have organized camp Polly Wog on Myers Island, above Grand Detour. Their chaperone is Avery Manges. The boys will have a good tim eand plenty of company. There is no time limit to their stay on the island.

Hunt Will Probated.

The will of the late Millicent Hunt was probated in the county court this morning. The witnesses to the will were present. They are Chilian Buck, Franklin Grove, and John Angle of Chicago. William Hunt of Ogle county was also present.

Excellent Peaches.

Ray Burrs of this office brought some very excellent peaches to the office this morning which were raised at his home. One small tree produced over a bushel.

HARRY ROE RETURNS FROM VACATION IN IDAHO

Deputy Circuit Clerk Harry Roe and J. B. Crawford of Franklin Grove have returned from their western trip. The gentlemen spent nearly a month in the Saw Tooth mountains of Idaho. Mr. Roe says that both had an excellent time. The trout fishing was fine. The boys killed four deer, one black bear, many ducks and sage hens. While there the young men visited the government irrigation system in the Snake River valley. Thousands of acres of arid land is being reclaimed for settlers by the water taken from Snake river by a series of concrete dams.

"HAPPY" VINCENT STOPS TEAM RUNNING AWAY

The team of bronchos attached to the delivery wagon of the Dixon steam laundry attempted to run away Saturday afternoon about 4:30. They were standing in front of the Leslie store on Galena avenue when the 4 o'clock interurban car started out, and were frightened by the noise of the car. Before getting a start up the hill Motorman Vincent of the interurban sprang from the car and stopped them with difficulty.

The harness was slightly broken, but otherwise no damage resulted from the incident.

Camp 23.

The members of the camping party designated Camp 23 left this morning for the scene of a week's revelry at Lowell park. The party is composed of High school boys who intend to camp until the opening of school.

SNAPSHOTS OF LA MODE.

Lace Sashes Very Smart—Cheap Panama Skirts—Nail Head Dog Collars.

Gowns of linen, batiste or lawn made with simple tucks and plaits, lace yokes and frilled sleeves, receive an added touch of beauty if girdled with a lace sash. These sashes are really very ultra affairs and are easily made by the ingenious girl. The girdle portion is boned and shaped to the figure, while the sash ends, narrow at the top and beaver shaped at the bottom, are lined with while malinette and corded.

SMART TRAVELING HAT.

Good, well cut panama cloth skirts are selling for $4.50 and $5. This material wears like iron and the skirts are therefore good investments.

Dog collars made of nail heads in various colors—purple, pink or red—are very much worn. These nail heads are artistically combined with tiny gold beads.

The narrow cluny insertions, some of them looking very much like heavy hand crochet work joining seams and used in place of veining, are particularly favored. Such narrow cluny lines set together all the seams of many blouses that have cluny trimmings.

A smart little traveling hat is seen in the cut of tan chip. It is simply trimmed with a band of chestnut brown velvet and decorated at one side with two American Beauty roses and some velvet knots. JUDIC CHOLLET.

HERE AND THERE.

A Touch of Green on the Costume Is Smart—Purses Match Gowns.

Apple green, salad green, cabbage green—call it what you will, but if you would be in the swim have a touch of it on your hat, belt or parasol.

The latest decree of fashion in the matter of bags and purses is that they shall match the costume. This means, of course, that a new one must be purchased with each suit. There are, however, a good many modish women who find it possible to exist with two or three in quiet tones.

Polka dotted flannel is the latest craze of the sporting girl. An effective tennis gown is made of white flannel with huge black dots. It has a short circular skirt and a simple round waist turned in at the neck, which is finished with a low turned down collar. The short sleeves have rolling cuffs. Beneath the collar is worn a scarlet silk scarf with flowing ends. Miss Marjorie Gould, the daughter of the railroad king, has a costume of this description.

Long black silk gloves are so scarce that when the merchants have any for sale they hang out a sign, "Long Black Silk Gloves For Sale Today," as if they were advertising sausages or special brands of peas. On account of this dearth of black gloves gants of tan are substituted. They are far more serviceable than white and can be worn with almost any colored dress.

A good looking duck outing hat is trimmed with two white breasts, one on each side, with a knot of soft white silk between.

The blouse illustrated is of pale blue tussore. Almost the entire front is composed of cluny lace outlined with bands of silk. For edging the high collar, forming a crossed tie and making the pompadour bows Peking silk is effectively used.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Try Now the Ways of Yore and See How You Like Them.

Good old times, says the San Antonio Light, are a delusion and a snare, and the man who sighs for them has little conception of what they were. Return to them, would you? Then rise on a cold morning and wash at the pump, pull on a pair of rawhide boots that rival a tin can in stiffness, pull on a woolen shirt over your back and sit down to a bare meal with your three legged stool dancing around on a split slab floor, eat corn pone and bacon for a steady diet and labor fourteen hours out of twenty-four. Go without a daily paper, a fly screen, a mosquito bar, a spring mattress, a kerosene lamp, geehaw your oxen to market and sit on the floor of an ox cart as you wend your way to church or a frolic. Parch corn and peas for coffee and sassafras for tea and see how you like it.

The old days are looked backward to affectionately, says the Galveston News, because they were the days of our youth, of bounding blood and supple joints, the days of hope and the days of love and laughter and song. The days of the present will be the good old days of the coming generation and will be regarded by our successors as rather crude in customs and harsh in many ways, yet withal not to be despised. The progressives of our age are the mossbacks of later eras. Fifty years hence we will be accounted as slow and immature as we now regard those of half a century ago.

CHIRSCHMUS.

A Swiss Dainty That Is Made of Preserved Cherries.

Last summer I ate genuine Swiss chirschmus twenty years old. It tasted like a concentration of all the richness and sweetness of the most perfect cherries. In appearance it was a purplish black mass. Age had not impaired it in the least.

Upon inquiry I learned how this cherry concoction, with its wonderful preserving quality, is made. The cherries used must be perfect—very large, ripe, juicy black ones and, above all, very sweet.

The juice of them pressed out and strained through a bag is put in a large preserving kettle, at the bottom of which is placed a piece of smoked pork fastened to a block of wood. The wood serves as a weight to keep the fat down and prevent the juice from burning as it thickens.

The cherry juice is boiled for about twenty-four hours without sugar, but stirred from time to time until it becomes a mass of sweetness so firm and thick that it would not fall if the kettle were inverted.

That is all, a simple process, but the result is delicious. This chirschmus is in general use in Switzerland with the "susse anke" (sweet butter) and bread. —London Ladies' World.

Feeding Silkworms.

The quality and quantity of silk produced by your silkworms will all depend on how you feed them. Too much food should not be given at once, but they should never be left entirely without at any time during the day or night. You must, therefore, watch carefully to get an idea of their appetite and provide accordingly, says Home Chat. Fresh mulberry leaves are the proper food for silkworms, but if at any time these are not procurable young lettuce leaves are the best substitute, but they are only a stop gap. Silkworms cannot live for a long period without their natural food.

A Rich Man.

Standards of prosperity vary in different parts of the country, but that of Captain Jack is purely local—to himself. The old man came out of his cottage door one morning and discovered some ne'er-do-well neighbors digging clams in the flat in front of his shore.

"Dear me, boys," he quavered in a weak, old voice, "don't dig my clams! There's Abel Wyman over there across the cove; he has ham for breakfast every morning in the year. Go over there and dig his clams, boys."

His Awful Mistake.

"Young man," said her father, "do you smoke cigarettes?"

"I should say not," declared the youth hastily. "I would consider it disgraceful to be seen with one of the vile things in my mouth. I think all cigarette smokers should be jailed. Why do you ask, sir?"

"Thought perhaps you could let me have one," said the old man pointedly. "I smoke 'em myself."—London Telegraph.

No Siren.

Mr. City Boarder was being entertained by his rural sweetheart.

"Do you play and sing 'When the Cows Are In the Corn,' Miss Milkyweigh?"

"Lord bless you, no!" she ejaculated; "I get the dogs and chase 'em out."—Harper's Weekly.

Unnatural Finish.

Mrs. Meeds—And did your husband die a natural death?

Mrs. Weeds—No, he died suddenly.

Mrs. Meeds—What was there unnatural about that?

Mrs. Weeds—Why, poor, dear John was the slowest man that ever lived.—Chicago Tribune.

The Society Way.

Duty called.

The man looked at the card lazily.

"Just say that I'm not at home," he ordered the maid.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

If thou knowest how to use money it will become thy handmaid. If not, it will become thy master.—Diodorus.

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

PAST AND PROSPECTIVE

Wedded At Oregon.

Charles Steel, of Clinton, Iowa, a brother of William Steel, the veteran soldier and color bearer of Dixon, was married August 15 to Mrs. Lily Forsey of Clinton, at Oregon, Ill.

The affair is spoken of by Clinton people as a very happy event and there were many pretty gifts given the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Steel left Thursday morning for a wedding trip which will take in Chicago, Milwaukee and a trip on the lakes, after which they will return to Clinton, Iowa.

Wm. Steel of Dixon, attended the wedding.

"IDLE HOUR" MAKES GOOD TIME ON OREGON TRIP

Fred M. Smith, accompanied by Nate Morrill and Will Fulton, went to Oregon in Mr. Smith's launch, "Idle Hour," Sunday. The party left Dixon at 8:15 a. m., arriving at Oregon at 2:15. On the return trip Oregon was left at 4:15 and Dixon reached at 7:25. From the railroad bridge to the wagon bridge, a distance of a quarter of a mile, it required 35 minutes to go against the current, but on the return trip the same place in the river was covered in three minutes. The "Idle Hour" is one of the best private launches on the river.

Will Schuler and son Harry, and sister, Mrs. Lillian Morse, and Mrs. Emma Shaw and her guest, Miss Williams of Chicago, went to Oregon in Mrs. Schuler's launch.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Watson entertained with a launch ride to Oregon Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Squires, Miss Christine Squires, Geo. Squires jr., Mr. and Mrs. John M. Batchelder and son John, and George Howell.

Mrs. Emma Shaw Entertains.

Mrs. Emma Shaw entertained Saturday evening in honor of her guest, Miss Williams of Chicago, with a picnic on the lawn at Bluff Park. About fifty were present and they all had a most enjoyable time.

Lee Reed and Frank Schmucker drove to Oregon Saturday on business.

Mrs. Nellie Long has returned to her home in Decatur after a visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Moyer.

An Example of a Judicial Mind.

At a dinner attended by a score of well known lawyers recently the phrase "judicial mind" was defined by illustration as follows: "I have searched far and wide for a satisfactory definition of the inevitable query raised when judicial nominations are in sight," said one of the lawyers. "On a Mississippi river steamboat some time ago I obtained my only approximate answer. A southern colonel who employed the phrase yielded to my request for a definition and explained that on a certain occasion a legal light of Mississippi was traveling in a river steamer when the boiler exploded. As the boat was passing the penitentiary at the time the force of the explosion deposited the lawyer inside the walls of the establishment from which he had saved so many criminals. Being uninjured, as a clever lawyer would be under the circumstances, he applied to the warden for a release. The warden listened to the circumstances as he narrated them, but declined to release him, insisting that with the coming of prisoners he had no concern, but for their departure he was responsible. He therefore compelled the lawyer to wait for a pardon from the governor. That is my notion of a judicial mind."—New York Post.

The Ball In Lawn Tennis.

It is a curious fact that every book written on lawn tennis cautions the player to keep his eyes on the ball at the moment of striking it, yet there are very few expert players who do so. A rifle shot looks at his target, a bowler looks at the pins, and a billiard player generally looks at the object ball, not the cue ball. I have found it next to impossible to carry in my mind, while moving rapidly to play a flying ball, the exact height of the net, the direction of the lines of my opponent's court and his position, so that it has become second nature with me and with most other players to look up in the direction that the ball is to go before it actually leaves the racket. It is principally because the reverse of this is necessary in golf that lawn tennis players have so much trouble in mastering the old Scotch game. From tennis habit they take their eyes off the ball too soon for golf success.—J. Parmly Paret in Country Life In America.

The Floor of the Pacific.

The red clay which covers the deep floors of the Pacific and the Indian oceans is made up of refuse and residue—that which can withstand the strong chemical action of the gases. In it may be found decomposed volcanic rock, pumice, zeolitic crystals, manganese oxides, meteoric iron, teeth of sharks and ear bones of whales. Few if any shore deposits are apparent in it. The rock is vitreous refuse, belched forth by subterranean or insular volcanoes. The minerals are supposed to be of cosmic origin—planetary dust and meteoric fragments that have fallen into the sea and have become disintegrated. The great quantity of sharks' teeth remains quite unaccounted for—at least their apparent gathering together in these ocean basins is considered very strange.—J. C. Van Dyke in "The Opal Seal."

A Missing Five Franc Piece.

Fully half the grownup people of France believe the old story that Napoleon Bonaparte put a check for 100,000 francs in a silver five franc piece and that the coin is yet in circulation. They say that the people did not want the five franc piece and that in order to create a demand for it Napoleon resorted to the device mentioned. The check or treasury order, it is said, was written upon asbestus paper and inclosed in the metal at the time the coin was made. Thousands of five franc pieces are annually broken open and have been so inspected since the story of the check was first circulated.

Right of Way In New York.

Most people in New York think Uncle Sam's mail wagons are supreme. They are not. The hospital ambulance comes first. Life is more sacred than mail, and when the ambulance gong gongs clear the track. Next in importance is the fire engine. Property is more important than mail, and when the engine toots and the bells ring clear the way. Then the mail wagons, which have precedence over everything but the ambulance and fire engine. This is settled by city ordinance.—New York Press.

Two Witnesses.

In order to test a Chinese witness' qualification for taking the oath an English magistrate asked him the other day where he expected to go when he died. He replied, "Peking," and was disqualified.

One in another English court, a little girl, in answer to that question said, "I don't know." The horrified counsel called the judge's attention to the answer. "Oh, I don't know, either," said the judge. "Swear the witness."

Sun Worshipers.

One of the best friends the tailor has is a spell of warm, bright sunshine. It shows up the shabby portions of dress and reveals its faded parts in unmistakable fashion, with the result that the wearers soon find their way to the tailor and order a fresh supply of up to date styles.—London Tailor and Cutter.

Miraculous Multiplication.

HONORS AND WORTH.

Absurdity of Titles That Descend From Father to Son.

When you find a man a most excellent runner, poet, surgeon or mariner, you give him due respect for his skill. If he is very eminent, his occupation esteemed and you chance to be some ruling power, he may receive a title. You do not confer this title because of his grandmother, and you do not make the old lady a duchess or indeed pay her any particular attention. This omission does not reflect discredit on the grandmother. It is obvious to her mind that to make her a peeress because not she, but some one else, has done something "good" would be as absurd as giving her twelve months' hard labor if he had done something otherwise.

Still less rational would it be to make the man's son a peer. The old lady has given the world this grandson. Perhaps she is in a measure the cause of his greatness, just as she might be to a certain extent responsible were he a criminal. But the son of the man did not make his father. He is not to be more greatly praised for what his father has done than for what William the Conqueror did.

The world seldom or never gives a man a title because his father earned one, but it does an equally silly thing when it allows a son to inherit such an "honor," says Home Notes.

Until a man can transmit merit it is absurd to allow him to transmit a testimonial as to merit. And, if there be no pretense of claim to exceptional worth, what solid reason can be advanced for a man receiving a designation that commands deference?

TOOTHPICKS.

A Visit to London and a Little Lesson In Etiquette.

"I ran over for a short visit to London," said a globe trotter. "On the boat was a pretty widow from Altona who disgusted and amused all hands one day by saying:

"'I am surprised that a fast and expensive boat like this should fail to supply us with toothpicks.'

"She thought toothpicks indispensable, like napkins or forks. For thinking so we set her down as a hecker. But wait.

"I dined during my visit in London at Prince's, in Piccadilly, and at the Savoy, in the room that overlooks the embankment and the river, and at the Carlton, where I paid a dollar for a plate of soup, and at all these restaurants, which are admittedly the finest and the smartest and the most fashionable in the world. At all of them there were toothpicks on the table, each toothpick done up in a sterilized envelope.

"This taught me a lesson. It taught me that it is narrow and provincial to despise people for their disregard of certain small rules of etiquette. The things we despise them for, which may be glaring errors in Seattle or New York, may be again, as like as not, the correct thing in Paris and London."—New York Press.

How Sound Waves Move.

The speed with which sound waves are transmitted through the atmosphere depends on several conditions. When the temperature is at 32 degrees F., sounds move with a speed of 1,090 feet per second, the velocity increasing with the temperature at the rate of about one foot of speed per second for each degree above the freezing point. Then, again, in damp air sound moves with a greater velocity than it does in dry air, no odds if the dry air be warm and the damp cold. In water sound moves more than four times as fast as it does in air, or, say, at about the rate of 4,700 feet per second.

Wooden Spoons.

A curious industry in Russia and one which nevertheless finds employment for thousands of men is that of making wooden spoons. In the district of Semenovsk, where they chiefly come from, no fewer than 7,000 men make a living at the trade. The spoons are generally made from birchwood, and a skilled workman can turn out several hundred a day. No fewer than 12,000,000 spoons are manufactured during the course of the year, which are sold at 6 to 8 rubles per thousand. They find a ready market and penetrate as far as Persia, Khiva, Bokhara and Khokand.

Husbands.

A woman who shall be nameless furnishes the following essay on husbands:

"There are three kinds of husbands—the young husbands who make us unhappy because we are so jealous of them, the middle aged husbands who break our hearts because they would rather make money or play golf than devote any attention to us and the old husbands who sicken us with their silly objections whenever we turn to look at younger men."—Chicago Tribune.

Different Times.

Sarasate once found his memory deserting him at a recital, but he discovered the reason of the mishap in time to prevent a failure. A lady was fanning herself in the front row of the stalls. The violinist stopped playing. "Madam," he said, "how can I play in two-four time when you are beating six-eight?" The lady shut up her fan, and the recital was concluded successfully.

Impudent Dog.

A dog had the audacity to bark at the deputy commissioner of Purulia, in Bengal, when he came to the house of the master of the dog on a bike. The owners of the dog were sent up for trial under section 289, and one of them, Karusha, was fined 20 rupees.—Lahore Tribune.

TOO HUMBLE A HUSBAND.

Position of Prince Albert, Royal Consort of Queen Victoria.

A woman looked up with a laugh from a heavy volume she was reading.

"Now I know," she said, "why Queen Victoria was so fond of the prince consort. This husband did not merely regard his wife as his equal; he regarded her as immeasurably his superior, saying that it was his duty to sink his own individual existence in her. Listen to this letter that Prince Albert wrote to the Duke of Wellington. Here is a champion of woman's rights indeed. Don't you think, though, it is going too far for a man to humble himself so low as this?"

She then read from her book in a sarcastic voice:

My Dear Duke—In the question whether it is advisable that I should take the command of the army I have come to the conclusion that my decision ought entirely to be guided by the consideration whether it would interfere with or assist my position of consort to the sovereign. This position is a most peculiar and delicate one. While a female sovereign has a great many disadvantages in comparison with a king, yet if she is married and her husband understands and does his duty her position, on the other hand, has many compensatory advantages and in the long run will be found to be stronger even than that of the male sovereign. But this requires that the husband should entirely sink his own individual existence in that of his wife and that he should aim at no power by himself or for himself, being content to be the husband of the queen, the private secretary of the sovereign and the tutor of the royal children.

Reading on a Train.

If you travel back and forth into town every day you no doubt read your paper or a magazine on the train. While this is not, indeed, the best practice for the eyes, it seems a pity to waste so much time which might be turned to good account. Much of the annoyance which comes from train reading is due to the jolting of the cars, which continually knocks the printed line out of focus with the eye. This can be in some degree obviated by laying a card or some other object below the line to be read and moving it steadily downward while reading. This acts as a guide to the eye and helps to keep the sight fixed. Those who have tried it say that it wonderfully assists to decrease the difficulty of reading while in motion.

Trade Emblems on Tombstones.

In Scotland it was for a long time usual to place on a man's tombstone the symbols of his trade. Especially was this the case at Dunblane, where, in the burial ground of the abbey, it has been found that of those tombstones which are from 100 to 200 years old about one-fourth are thus marked, the symbols being in low relief. A sugar cane may be seen as showing the grave of a grocer; an ax and saw, with hammer and nails, occur on the grave of a carpenter; an awl and a hammer on that of a shoemaker. There are many other graves similarly marked.—London Answers.

Cutting Eyelashes.

An eyelash is pointed. A cut lash is blunt. A lash once cut never again becomes pointed. Every lash lives a variable time and then falls out to be replaced by a fresh one. When a cut lash so falls the newcomer is pointed. So any mischief resulting from cutting the lashes will be remedied by time. Opinions differ as to whether lash cutting promotes growth. That it renders the lashes unsightly is very certain.

Easy Pill

Easy to take and easy to act is that famous little pill DeWitt's Little Early Risers. This is due to the fact that they tone the liver instead of purging it. They never gripe nor sicken, not even the most delicate lady, and yet they are so certain in results that no one who uses them is disappointed. They cure torpid liver, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, headache, malaria and ward off pneumonia and fevers.

CONFIRMED PROOF

Residents of Dixon cannot doubt what has been twice proved

Ing ratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressed kidney ills—thousands have recommended publicly Doan's Kidney pills. Residents of Dixon, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney pills to Dixon kidney sufferers.

William Seward Brierton, of 322 Third street, says: "In the month of December, 1897, when suffering a good deal of pain in my back and other annoyances due to some disturbance of the kidneys, I went to Leake Bros.' drug store for Doan's Kidney pills and took them. It cured me and I allowed my experience with and opinion of the remedy to be published in our Dixon papers. I just as emphatically endorse Doan's Kidney pills today as I did years ago."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

Symptoms.

A physician was talking about his patient's symptoms.

"Young, strong people don't give me enough symptoms when they are ill," he said, "but the middle aged and the aged give me too many. Thinking about their health all the time, studying their condition all the time, the aged and the middle aged discover a symptom in every muscle, in every organ, in every limb. Thus they confuse me.

"The average sufferer of fifty or so will pour upon my head a deluge of symptoms like this:

"'Well, doctor, I'm miserable all over, feverish one minute, freezing the next. I've a gnawing pain in my hip and side and back and an all gone sensation in the stomach, with a shooting, neuralgic headache over the left eye. I have a queer taste in my mouth, a dizziness when I stoop over and a dull ache up and down the right side, along with a kind of numbness. I cough a lot, my throat's sore, and I've the earache. Appetite's fair, but not what it should be. I have a feeling of lassitude, and I'm very weak. These are only a few of my main symptoms. To proceed, etc.'"—Exchange.

An Unruffled Spirit.

A contented spirit was Mrs. Snow's, so contended that at times her neighbors found it trying and took an unrighteous satisfaction in presenting any small thorns which might prick through her comfort.

"No, my Angie hasn't the measles," said Mrs. Snow one day. "Well, perhaps it seems strange she should escape the epidemic, but my children are unusually fortunate always in those respects. Of course I take the best of care of them, and, then, they inherit a tendency to throw off any germs. I anticipate no illness with Angie."

In spite of this the redoubtable Angie came down with measles a week later, and the inquiring friend again approached Mrs. Snow.

"Yes, dear Angie has the measles at last," said the contented mother. "Now, most of the other children are well, and as the doctor has plenty of time to attend to her it really seemed an opportunity for Angie. I don't suppose there ever was a child on whom they came out more beautifully than on Angie. I tell the doctor I think he may well be proud of his little patient."—Youth's Companion.

The Atmosphere.

Even if it were possible for man to live without breathing air he could not exist on the earth if it were without an atmosphere. Plants derive carbon, the most important element of their food, from the air, and without plants there could be no food for animals and therefore no human beings. Water also comes from the atmosphere, but if there were no water there could be neither plants nor animals. If food and water could be supplied in some other way the world would still be unhabitable by plants and animals owing to the severity of the cold. Without an atmosphere there would be no winds and consequently no waves or ocean currents. The sea—if we may suppose one to have been supplied by some unknown cause—would be a stagnant pool, uninhabitable by seaweed or fish.

American Buyer In London.

"My American accent came near to taxing me just $430 on my last trip to London," remarked a clubman. "When I tried to buy a certain bulldog pup there the kennel man priced it at $500, as he had me sized up as an American and, in his regard, an easy mark. I made a deal with a cabby at the hotel stand, who went around and bought the same pup for me at $60, a very fair price, as the dog will never be a show winner. I gave a $10 tip to the cabman, so I made $430 by employing an agent who called his hansom an 'ansom and his horse an 'orse."—New York Sun.

Jackdaw and Magpie.

In England the daw is hardly ever mentioned but as Jack, yet daw and not jackdaw is the proper name of the species. It is suggested that the pie owes the "mag" to some corruption of Margaret or Meg. To mag is to chatter, but whether the verb was derived from the name or the name from the verb is a question. It is more than probable that the Jim Crow of America (the old name for a negro boy) was brought across from England in the days when a crow was Jim, as a swallow was Dick.—London Standard.

Egg and Bottle.

Take a boiled egg, remove the shell, have a bottle with a large neck, add a piece of paper to the neck and light it. When in blaze put the egg on it, point down, and the heat will pull the egg with great force inside. Now put again a blazed paper in the bottle and manage to have the egg in the neck point up, and the heat will push out the egg with an explosion.

Perpetual.

"You always appear to be worried about your housekeeping," remarked the sympathetic friend.

"But really," replied the housekeeper, "there are only two occasions when I am really worried. One is when I haven't a servant and the other is when I have."

LORD SCULLY'S LAND

He Deeds a Big Parcel of It to His Wife—He Is Ninety Years Old.

HAS MANY ACRES OF TERRITORY

How He Deals with Tenants—Chicago Police Inspector Under Grave Charges—State News.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 27.—A remarkable deed was filed in the Logan county recorder's office last week, "Lord" William Scully transfering to Angela Scully, his wife, all his lands in that county, to the extent of 30,000 acres and valued at $3,000,000, basing the average at $100 an acre, a very low estimate. The deed reads that the transfer was made for $1 and other good and valuable considerations. "Lord" Scully made the acknowledgement July 9, 1906, in London, where he has been living for some time.

His Lordship a Nonogerian.

As he is about 90 years of age, he doubtless decided that it was time to get his affairs in shape before his death. The signature on the deed indicated weak nerves and poor vision. "Lord" Scully has for years enjoyed the reputation of being one of the most extensive land owners among Europeans. Away back in the '60s he came to this country and purchased large tracts in Illinois, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska, getting most of it at $1.25 an acre. His total possessions now amount to from 200,000 to 250,000 acres, most of it being very valuable and highly productive.

How He Runs His Business.

Until twenty years ago "Lord" Scully made his home in Ireland, but most of the time since he has lived here, as the alien laws applying to land made it desirable for him to live here and he became a naturalized citizen. The management of his land is entirely in the hands of agents, although he has visited his tracts at intervals during the last five years. The farms are never improved. This is left to the tenants. They pay so much an acre for the land, the maximum being $4 a year, and put up their own buildings and fences. If they desire to leave the farm they dispose of the buildings as best they can to their successor.

Has Remitted His Rents.

The land rents according to the character of the soil. A great amount of tile has been put in and the undrained farms rent for less than those well tiled. For a long time it was difficult to persuade "Lord" Scully that tiling was valuable, but he was finally won over. On these years where the crops have been poor, the landlord began some time ago to remit a portion of the rent. One year he turned back, it is alleged, $50,000 when the oats crop failed.

Leases Only Run a Year.

All leases run for one year only, but leases are always renewed if tenants are satisfactory. Those farms which have god improvements usually bring more than the buildings cost, the demand for first-class "leases," as they are called, being heavy. It also indicates the fact that tenants make large returns from the land.

WHY LAVIN WAS "FIRED"

Story Chief of Police Collins Tells of Inspector Lavin—Investigation of Robbery.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Chief of Police Collins has made public the grounds upon which he suspended from the police service recently Inspector P. J. Lavin. The charges against Lavin are that Lavin, then a police captain, personally instigated the robbery of a jewelry store at Fifty-fifth street and Wentworth avenue in 1901, for the purpose of securing promotion to the office of police inspector.

He is further charged with having retained a diamond ring valued at $200, and a diamond stud, said to be worth $185, which were taken from George Wilkinson, who was convicted of stealing jewelry from a store in the downtown district in 1903. The accusations are based upon affidavits made by Patrick Mahoney, a policeman; George Wilkinson, the prisoner, and two men who sought to secure the return of the ring and stud in behalf of Wilkinson.

Found Dead in the Woods.

Belleville, Ill., Aug. 27.—A dispatch from Baltimore announces that the body of W. Schmitt, 80 years old, of this city was found in a strip of woods there. A shotgun was lying by his side. In a note book found in his pocket was written in German: "I am 80 years old today. W. Schmitt, Belleville, Ill. I am on my way home, but can get no further. The people are so bad here. They stole everything from me. Write Father H. Meyer, the priest. I am a Catholic." He had had died from old age and fatigue.

Clears Up a Murder Mystery.

Kewanee, Ill., Aug. 27.—By confessions obtained by the police from two friends of the slayer, the mystery surrounding the fatal shooting of Joseph Stefanac in his own dooryard has been solved. The revolver was fired by Roy Bailey, a young man, who fled to Hodgensville after the shooting. Bailey told them he had been attacked and had shot in self-defense.

Reward for a Wife Slayer.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 27.—Governor Deneen has issued a proclamation offering a reward of $200 for the arrest of William Thomas, wanted in Pontiac, Livingston county, for the murder of his wife.

Brought to Book at Last.

Tibbie was a Scotch lass, hardworking and comely. She ruled over a grateful and suppressed family of New Englanders for eight years, and then announced her intention of marrying within six weeks.

"I suppose it is Rab whom you mean to marry, Tibbie?" asked her nominal mistress, referring to a tall, mild faced young Scotchman who had spent more or less time in Tibbie's spotless kitchen for the last three years.

"It is," announced Tibbie calmly. "Here he's been coming and sitting wi' me all these times and never a word o' merrying. So at long last I said to him, 'If you've no mind to tak me, Rab, ye can jist say so, and I'll spend nae more on bright ribbons to sit up wi' ye, but I'll tak' my money to buy one of those talking machines that plays tunes, after I've paid for a strip o' new oilcloth to cover the floor where you've worn out the old one, and then I'll tak' my releegious books and settle down in quiet.'

"Rabbie was so concerned at my drear prospects and the thoughts o' my savings he said he would ha'e me whenever I got ready."

Shooting Down the Alps on Skees.

The quest for a moral is provoked by a long list of skeeing accidents in the Alps. In itself the exercise can hardly be considered more perilous than skating, though the proportion of sprained ankles and twisted tendons is higher, but when the skeer skees a distance from his base and ventures upon unfamiliar ground there are at least three ways in which calamity is liable to befall him. On a glacier he may break through the snow bridge which he is trying to shoot and be buried in a crevasse. On the hillside he may skee violently down a steep place and, unable to arrest his pace, end by skeeing over a precipice. Almost anywhere, unless he knows the signs, he may skee in the tracks of an avalanche and be overwhelmed. Examples of each of these several kinds of disaster have lately been presented, and each of the disasters conveys a warning of which amateur skeers, whose name nowadays is legion, would do well to take a careful note.—London Graphic.

Sufficiently Identified.

She walked into a branch bank on upper Broadway and pushed a check through the paying teller's window.

"You will have to be identified," said he. "I don't know you, madam."

"You don't, eh?" said the woman, with fire in her eye. "Aren't you the father of the Smith family that has a flat in the Pileremin apartments?"

"Y-e-s."

"Well, I am the red headed janitress that your wife's always complaining about. When you left home this morning I heard you say: 'Emily, if our children get fighting with that old fury in the basement don't quarrel with her. Wait till I get home and let me talk with her.' Now, if you think you can get the best of an argument with"—

"Here's your money, madam," said the paying teller. And she took it and went.—Everybody's Magazine.

Where Lincoln Put the Whetstone.

A soldier at whose house when a boy Lincoln paused in his tramps in Illinois and who lent him a whetstone to sharpen his jackknife met him during the war in Washington. Lincoln remembered the incident and spoke of the use of the whetstone.

"Ya-a-s," drawled out the old soldier, "whatever did you do with the whetstone? I never could find it. We 'lowed mebbe you took it along with you." "No, no! I put it on top of the gatepost—that high one." "Mebbe you did. Nobody else could have reached it, and none of us ever thought to look there for it." There it was found where it was placed fifteen years before. The soldier reported the fact to the president.

Why He Wanted a Pass.

When Jim Fisk was in his glory as a railroad magnate one day he was greatly annoyed by people asking for passes over his road for all sorts of reasons. He was well worked up when a seedy looking individual asked for a pass and asked sharply, "On what grounds do you ask for a pass?"

The applicant replied, "Because I do not want to pay my fare."

Fisk called a clerk and said to him: "Give this man a pass to anywhere and return. He is the first man that has told the truth today."—Boston Herald.

A Couple of Bulls.

On the edge of a small river in County Cavan, Ireland, is a stone with this inscription: "When this stone is out of sight it is not safe to ford the river." But this is even surpassed by the famous post erected some years ago by the surveyors of the Kent (England) roads: "This is the bridle path to Faversham. If you can't read this you had better keep to the main road."

Natural Fitness.

RHEUMATISM

TROUBLESOME PAINS AND ACHES

While Rheumatism is usually worse in Winter because of the cold and dampness of a changing atmosphere, it is by no means a Winter disease entirely. Persons in whose blood the uric acid, which produces the disease, has collected, feel its troublesome pains and aches all the year round. The cause of Rheumatism is a sour, acid condition of the blood, brought about by the accumulation in the system of refuse matter, which the natural avenues of bodily waste have failed to carry off. This refuse matter coming in contact with the different acids of the body, forms uric acid which is absorbed by the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and Rheumatism gets possession of the system. Rheumatic persons are almost constant sufferers; the nagging pains in joints and muscles, are ever present under the most favorable climatic conditions, while exposure to dampness or an attack of indigestion will often bring on the severer symptoms even in warm, pleasant weather. Liniments, plasters, lotions, etc., relieve the pain and give the sufferer temporary comfort, but are in no sense curative; because Rheumatism is not a disease that can be rubbed away or drawn out with a plaster. S. S. S. is the best treatment for Rheumatism; it goes down into the blood and attacks the disease at its head, and by neutralizing the acid and driving it out, and building up the thin, sour blood, cures Rheumatism permanently. Being made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, S. S. S. will not injure the system in the least. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice without charge.

EXPRESS LINES UNDER RATE LAW

AGENTS RECEIVE INSTRUCTIONS TO OBSERVE LAW AND BE VERY CAREFUL.

FRANKS ARE ALL DONE WITH

Can't Get Rebate On Any Privilege Under Heavy Penalty InterState Commission On Rules.

After tomorrow express companies and shippers will be careful what they do in regard to shipments.

On that date express companies will come under provisions of the new railway rate law, the Elkins law and the interstate commerce law.

The first effect of this is shown in the circulars from headquarters just received by the local agent of the American Express company. In this a digest of the law, is given and instructions for its observance.

The purpose of the law is to prevent rebates in any form from company to shipper. It provides in either case for a punishment consisting of a fine of $5,000 or two years imprisonment, or both.

On the part of the company the bill forbids false billing, false classification or any irregularities that might give one shipper an advantage over another.

On the other hand it forbids the shipper making other than a true statement of the contents of any shipment which would have the effect of making his rate cheaper.

The company in January suspended the franking privilege in preparation for the law, and now no package can be sent free as a courtesy unless with the penalty of the law staring in the face the owner and the recipient of the favor. This is a form of rebate and is under the ban of the law.

The local officers of the three express companies will find little effect from the law as no franks have been used for months and the classification has been followed carefully in all respects.

However, unusual care will be exercised to see that no infraction of the statute takes place for the agents are held responsible for protecting the interests of the company in this respect.

COMPARISONS.

As Soon as We Begin to Make Them We Begin to Suffer.

We would not have to strive so for courage if what we vaguely call "things" were more evenly distributed among us, for no one's lot would then seem to him an evil one. If we were all humpbacked or lame or blind; if every husband were unfaithful and every child a cross; if we were all poor and no man had any more than another; if nobody's son died in his early strength and nobody was loved while we sat neglected, then who of us would know what sorrows and afflictions were? We would take each of them for granted, as a Chinaman takes his yellow skin and an Indian his red one.

It is because we see our estate differing from that of our fellows that we are tempted to comparisons, and it is in the making of these comparisons that a sense of our sorrows, like the knowledge of our afflictions, is first born. How would we have known that we were poor unless we had seen some one else who was richer or that our son was unsuccessful unless the son of somebody else were making a great mark in the world? Would our little children be unhappy with only one dress had they not seen other children with two?

It comes to this, then: When we begin to make comparisons, we begin to suffer. This may seem to be a hard saying, but it is a true one.—Lillie Hamilton French in Harper's Bazar.

STAG LEGENDS.

Ancient Stories of the Animal's Antipathy to Snakes.

There is no beast in the world to which more legendary virtues are attributed than the stag, partly owing to the tale of St. Hubert, partly to a supposed antipathy of stags toward serpents, partly to a peculiar mass of gristle in the shape of a cross which is found in the animal's heart. A whole book might be written on the miraculous power of the heart and the efficacy of different parts of him against the troubles of this evil world. Fouilloux, in the sixteenth century, gives a long list, and Master Robert Topsel fills page upon page with them, but our author in his solid English fashion is chary of accepting such stories.

Men say, he admits, that when a stag is right old he beateth a serpent with his foot till she be wroth, and then eateth her, and then goeth to drink, and then runneth hither and thither till the water and venom be meddled together, and maketh him cast all his evil humors that he had in his body, and maketh his flesh come all anew. But, he adds, with the solemnity of Herodotus himself, "Thereof make I none affirmation." And this phrase occurs again and again, for the Comte de Foix is too great and noble a hunter that any assertion of his should be laughed at.—Macmillan's Magazine.

Gambling a Religious Duty.

"Speaking of gambling," a missionary said, "I know of a sect that regards it as a religious duty, like fasting or prayer. This sect is the Hindoos. They one day in each year gamble like mad from sunrise till sunset. The day is the festival of the lamps, a day sacred to Lakshun, the goddess of wealth. A tremendous lot of money changes hands in Lakshun's honor. All this gambling is done to test the financial success that will attend on each person throughout the year. If a gambler loses he knows a year of hard luck is ahead of him. If he wins he knows he may expect a twelvemonth of prosperity. Strange to say, a good deal of cheating accompanies this religious gambling."

Champion Divers.

"Larry Donovan," said a professional swimmer, "made the highest dive on record. It was 210 feet—a dive from the Brooklyn bridge. Donovan also took a dive from Niagara bridge, a good 200 feet. There are no other divers in the same class with Larry. Jack Burns made a dive of 150 feet from the topmost yardarm of the Three Brothers, the largest sailing ship of its time, and Jim O'Rourke and Julius Gautier have done some good diving, too—100 feet, 125 feet, and so on—but it is doubtful if Donovan's record will ever be broken."

The Crawfish's Tail.

The tail of a crawfish serves that animal as an oar. By a peculiar jerk of the tail the animal can retire from a dangerous object with almost incredible swiftness. The tail is much more effective in moving the animal backward than forward, a singular instance of adaptation to its situation, for by means of its tail it can withdraw into its hole with such swiftness as in an instant to place it out of danger.
